

Ausgabe: ZWP Zahnarzt Wirtschaft Praxis 05/11, S. 98

Thema: Sicher und universell adhäsiv zementieren

Autor: Ronny Watzke

Literatur

1. D'Amario M, Campidoglio M, Morresi AL, Luciani L, Marchetti E, Baldi M. Effect of thermocycling on the bond strength between dual-cured resin cements and zirconium-oxide ceramics. J Oral Sci 52, 425-430
2. Fasbinder D, Dennison J, Heys D. (2010): Clinical Evaluation of Lithium Disilicate Chair-side CAD/CAM Crowns. Abstract "AADR Annual Meeting & Exhibition" Washington, DC
3. Salz U, Zimmermann J, Salzer T. (2005): Self-curing, self-etching adhesive cement systems. J Adhes Dent 7, 7-17
4. Sasse M, Eschbach S, Kern M. (2011): Clinical Outcome of Single Retainer All-Ceramic Resin-Bonded Fixed Dental Prostheses. Poster "89th IADR/AADR/CADR General Session & Exhibition" San Diego
5. Schulein TM. (2005): Significant events in the history of operative dentistry. J Hist Dent 53, 63-72
6. Watzke R, Peschke A, Roulet JF. (2009): Aesthetic properties of a new high-translucent lithiumdisilicate press-ceramic. Dental Materials 25, e44-e45 (Abstracts from the Academy of Dental Materials conference 2008 in Wuerzburg, Germany)
7. Zhang C, Degrange M. Shear bond strengths of self-adhesive luting resins fixing dentine to different restorative materials. J Biomater Sci Polym Ed 21, 593-608